The News

■ As has been the case in recent years, Lunkers Unlimited members caught a lot of fish this season during club outings.

For the third season in a row, Doug Borucki won the Fisherman of the Year Award. During the 2010 outings, he compiled a record 13,820 points, which is 755 points – or a little over 10 pounds of bass – more than the previous high year-end point total.

Jake Strande also had an exceptional year and won the Junior Fisherman of the Year Award. Jake caught 22 legal fish – he limited out on bass twice – during the season and totaled 3,785 points. That would have placed him 13th in the men's division. It was an impressive year overall for junior anglers, and obviously it's great to see so much participation from the younger generation. Hopefully we'll see more of that in 2011.

On the women's side of things, there was a tie for the top angler this year between Sarah Ingle and Sherry Nehls.

See Page 3 for the full – and final – outing point totals from the 2010 season. Outing chairman Mike Woods gives his personal guarantee that they are 100-percent correct. If you have a chance, thank Mike for his efforts in handling the outings in recent years. It's a big job counting up all those points, especially with everyone catching so many fish.

■ Once again this year, Dave Wittemann has arranged to have the club sell Ice Fishoree tickets at the Gander Mountain store in Waukesha. The dates are Saturday, Dec. 11, and Saturday, Dec. 18, starting at about 9 a.m. Dave says tickets will be sold on those two days “until we all get sick of each other,” or as long as people are buying tickets. If you have some time and would like to help out, please give Dave a call at (414) 331-2788.

Tip of the Month

Don't forget to winterize your motor when you quit fishing this season, and also put a couple pumps of grease in your trailer bearings to prevent rusting.
